Looking Inward, Looking Outward: Can we talk about racism?

A Juried Exhibition

July 1 – September 8, 2020

Call to Artists: Arizona artists are invited to submit up to two artworks for possible inclusion in this juried exhibition. Open Doors is a not-for-profit art gallery whose mission is “Raising Awareness through Art.” The interpretations on the subject of “racism” are not limited to skin color or ethnicity.

Type of art we can accept: Two-dimensional media including painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, and mixed media are welcome. All accepted art must be delivered installation-ready (hanging hardware and wire secured on the back). Artwork must not exceed 3 feet, including frame, in any direction.

Sales: Your art may be for sale or not. Inquiries from interested parties are relayed to the artist. The sale is transacted between the artist and the purchaser. The purchaser cannot take possession of the art until after the exhibition ends. The Gallery does not charge a commission on sales.

Entry Fee: $10 for one artwork. $15 for two artworks. Nonrefundable. These modest entry fees help offset the costs of producing and publicizing the exhibit.
